Reducing language barriers and working more effective together

Do you understand your employees? Do your employees understand you? Language and communication are known to be the key for success in all entrepreneurial and private areas. Understanding others and being understood in person; expressing oneself to advise your counterpart what you would like to do are the most important abilities and requirements for an economical working and a thoughtful cooperation. The haven language school has concentrated on German as foreign language and offers your company to teach foreign personnel focused in German language.

What do you say to this?

We offer individual German language courses for your special requirements. Together we can work out the educational objective and the period of the course, the curriculum and we keep records of the progress. Experienced instructors form the lessons following the latest studying techniques informative and motivating.
